三、閱讀測驗：12%（每題 2 分）

An ant and a grasshopper once lived in the same field. Every day, the ant worked hard and gathered food for winter. But the grasshopper just played and sang all the summer time.

Summer changed to fall and the weather became colder. The ant started working even harder than before. The grasshopper still played and played. One day, the first snow fell. The ant went inside and ate a nice, warm meal. Meanwhile, the grasshopper started shivering from the cold. “I’m cold and hungry. What shall I do?” he said.

When spring came, the weather became warmer. The ant went outside. But the ant never saw the grasshopper again.

Dear Meggie,

Thank you for sending me the letter and the gifts---a beautiful water bottle, pencils and storybooks. It's really kind of you to give me so much love.

This summer, my country had a very bad drought. With no water, people couldn't grow anything and a lot of animals died. What was worse, we were short of food, too. Thousands of people died from hunger. Most of them were young children. I felt very sad about it.

Sometimes I feel really bad about being born and growing up in my country. I want to go away from my home. However, because of the love and help from you and other people around the world, I have hope.

With the letter is a photo of my family. Someone from World Vision took it for us. Do you see the smile on my face? That's because of you. Thanks for everything.

Sincerely,

Mary
